DESCRIPTION & RATIONALE

The Naming Committee may recommend that a facility be named to reflect its use, to honour someone associated with the University, or to recognize a donor.

On January 17, 2018, the Naming Committee considered the following Class 1 Facility requests by the Development office as recognition of a donor:

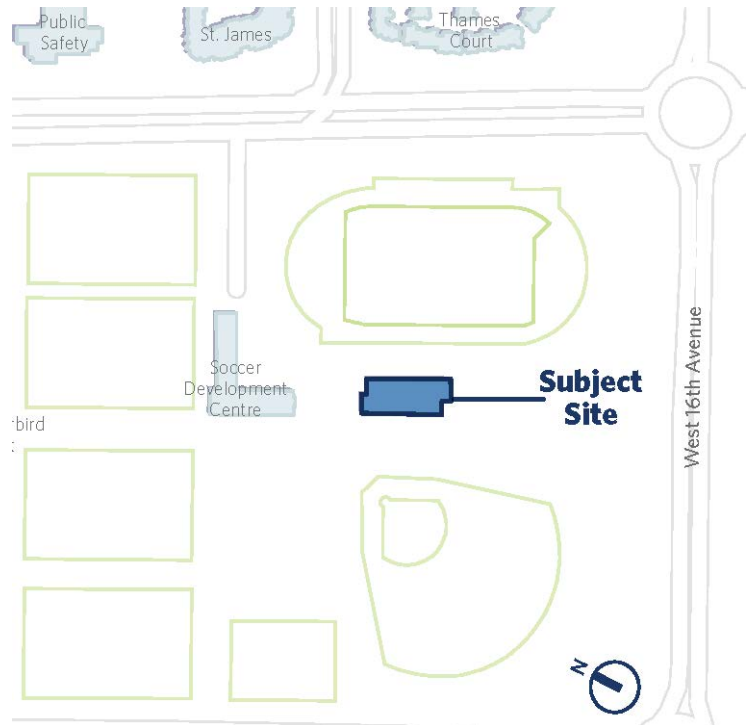

- a) UBC Baseball Rose Indoor Training Centre: part of the larger UBC Baseball Stadium project, the building houses 4 batting cages, 2 pitching mounds, including motion capture and video analysis camera equipment for research purposes. Originally named “UBC Baseball Tourmaline Rose Indoor Training Centre”, the donor has made another gift to UBC towards the stadium (see naming request listed below) and prefers to use his last name "Rose" alone for the Indoor Training Centre and his company name "Tourmaline" for the stadium.

b) Tourmaline West Stadium: Mr. Rose funded a baseball field in Okotoks, AB. The requested name recognizes the donor’s commitment to fund the proposed new stadium at UBC while complementing the existing field in Alberta.

The naming committee approved these naming requests and recommended that the President refer their recommendations to the Board of Governors for approval. These donor naming requests will be reviewed by the provincial government under its Naming Privileges Policy.
