DESCRIPTION & RATIONALE The Naming Committee may recommend that a facility be named to reflect its use, to honour someone associated with the University, or to recognize a donor.

On May 10, 2018, the Naming Committee considered the following Class 1 Facility request by the Development office as recognition of a donor:

Arran & Ratana Stephens Global Hive for Sustainable Food Systems @ UBC Farm for the proposed UBC Farm capital project. The donors are the co-founders and co-CEOs of locally based family-owned Nature's Path Foods Inc., one of the largest organic food producers in the world. This was previously approved as Arran Stephens and Ratana Stephens Global Hive for Sustainable Food Systems @ UBC Farm. The donors further considered the naming and wish to remove repetition of their surname for simplicity.

The Naming Committee approved this naming request and recommended that the President refer it to the Board of Governors for approval.
