The Finance Committee receives the Budget Process Overview briefing annually, most recently in November 2020.

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

The UBC Budget represents the financial plan for the university—it serves as a roadmap for allocating the university’s revenues against one-time and recurring expenses and strategic investments to ensure the long-term financial sustainability of the university, and to support UBC’s academic mandate. The budget process focuses on aligning UBC’s financial approach with the university’s strategic and operating plans.

In accordance with the University Act, the President must prepare and submit to the Board of Governors an annual budget. The process to develop UBC’s budget, prior to review and approval of the President, is the responsibility of the University Executive.

A primary commitment and value of the university is to deliver high-quality education and support services to all our students. As key stakeholders, students must have a voice in the budget process. Therefore, via elected student leaders and through annual consultation, students will provide input into the university’s budget priorities.

UBC is also committed to being a global leader in advancing Truth and Reconciliation with Indigenous Peoples and the United Nations Declaration on the Rights of Indigenous People through the implementation of UBC’s Indigenous Strategic Plan (ISP). Engagement and consultation on the development of the annual budget to support the ISP will occur through the annual budget process.

The attached presentation provides an update on the financial forecast, highlights key considerations for the budget process and an overview of the budget process, including a high-level overview of the pathway to the FY 22/23 budget.

Strategic Budget Meetings and the Financial Outlook/Forecast meetings will inform the development of the fiscal 2022-2023 budget proposal to be considered by UBC’s Executive. Following Executive review and approval by the President, the budget will be presented to UBC’s Board of Governors in March 2022.

FY21-22 FORECAST UPDATE AS AT Q1

- Enrolment is consistent with the approved budget – remaining relatively flat.
- Sales and Service revenues are approaching the pre-pandemic levels with an increase in on-campus activities.
- Salaries and benefits are increasing in line with the collective agreements as well as additional staffing to support pre-pandemic campus activity levels.
- Investment income within the Endowment is higher than budget reflecting market conditions.
- The ancillary losses from the impact of COVID-19 continue to be mitigated through the deferral of loan payments and dividend holidays.
- In FY21/22 the operating funding for UBCV Administrative Units is reduced by 2% to manage the financial impact of COVID-19.
- UBC continues to make investments for the benefit of students and UBC's strategic priorities.

FY22-23 BUDGET PROCESS

- The budget process focuses on aligning UBC's financial approach with the university's strategic and operating plans.
- The UBC Budget serves as a roadmap for allocating the university's revenues against one-time and recurring expenses and strategic investments, to ensure the long-term financial sustainability of the university and to support UBC's academic mandate.

- Board
 - Tuition and budget recommendation from the Finance Committee for approval
 - Affordability Plan for discussion and approval
 - The Plan will include key areas of need and options for the sources and uses of funds

FY22-23 HIGH-LEVEL BUDGET CONTEXT

- Internal cost pressures will persist as a result of FY20/21's operating deficit and costs to appropriately compensate employees as codified in the relevant Collective Agreements continue to create upward pressure on expenses:
 - GWI (usually 2%) that is funded by the Province;
 - Unfunded merit and career progression salary increments (~3% for faculty and ~2% staff); and
 - Annual non-labour inflation (~2%).
- VP Portfolios (UBCV) will continue to absorb one-time budget cuts (initiated in FY20/21) for at least one more year to mitigate the impact of COVID-19.
- Next year's incremental funding will be very limited. While the government operating grant will remain relatively flat, expenses are expected to increase faster than incremental revenues (tuition rates, subject to student consultation and BoG approval, are the key driver to partially offset the unfunded cost pressures).
- Future savings opportunities are being actively explored in addition to VP Portfolios funding cuts (UBCV) to shift limited resources to continue investing in strategic initiatives that advance the academic mission.
- UBCO will be moderating incremental funding linked to critical areas of need and strategic priority areas of campus
- Recognizes the university's future commitments to PAEI, IRP repayment and centrally funded new facilities.⁵

COMPETING DEMANDS FOR LIMITED INCREMENTAL REVENUE

In order to maintain UBC's standing internationally and continue to promote excellence in teaching, learning and research, we need to continue to invest in strategic priorities while balancing operational needs.

- Strategic priorities that advance the academic mission
 - Supporting implementation of the Indigenous Strategic Plan
 - Advocating for anti-racism, equity, diversity, and inclusion across UBC's campuses
 - Championing deployment of the recommendations of the Climate Emergency Task Force through the Climate Action Plan
 - Elevate UBC's overall research capacity through the PAEI
 - Major capital projects to enhance students' experience – Brock Commons, Gateway Building, Recreation Centre, Biomedical Engineering
 - Major capital projects for UBCO to address critical shortage in teaching and research space – Kelowna Downtown project and ICI Building
- Maintaining campus operations
 - Unfunded cost pressures (net of government grant increases)
 - Academic and staff salary increases as codified in Collective Agreements
 - Inflation on non-labour – e.g. cost of goods sold, supplies and sundries.
 - Integrated Renewal Project – HR, Finance and Student system upgrade
 - Routine maintenance of existing infrastructure – e.g. technology upgrades, classroom upgrades, library and learning spaces upgrades
 - Seismic upgrades of aging facilities

KEY CONSIDERATIONS FOR FY22/23 BUDGET

- Even though enrolment for this fiscal appears promising as at the end of September, a number of factors all introduce varying degrees of uncertainty into student enrolment for next year, including:
 - Continuously evolving travel restrictions, requirements and access;
 - Study permit availability (2.5% of international students couldn't get to Canada in time for the Fall term);
 - Impacted family income; and
 - Potential ongoing future health risks associated with possible new variants of COVID-19.
- Student consultation for proposed general tuition and fee increases for FY22/23 will commence in Jan. 2022.
- In order to understand the impact of tuition on budgets, tuition increases in line with last year (2% domestic, 2% returning international and 4% new international) are being assumed for modeling purposes. The proposed tuition increase will be finalized in January 2022, prior to tuition consultation.
- The recommended tuition increase will, if approved, enable UBC to continue to invest in key priorities in future years.
- Ancillary operations will likely approach pre-pandemic activity levels and FY20/21 carryforward losses will continue to be supported through deferral of principal payments and relief of dividend payments to Central.
